ALMA MATER

Goodhart-Davis

Praise to thee, O Alma Mater, faithfully we sing,
Hear our joyful voices ringing, Fairleigh Dickinson.
Campus halls, that oft recall us, memories will bring,
Campus lights will ever guide us, when the day is done.

Chorus

Alma Mater, we will cherish each day of the years
We were privileged to spend here, tho' our parting nears.

DEGREE CANDIDATES

Florham Campus degree candidates, see page 10.
Metropolitan Campus degree candidates, see page 19.
Vancouver Campus degree candidates, see page 37.
See inside back cover for graduates' seating plan.

Note: An undergraduate student whose cumulative grade point ratio (CGPR) for four years is 3.85 will receive his or her degree summa cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.67, magna cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.33, cum laude. Only weighted grades will be included in computing honors. Only the credits taken at Fairleigh Dickinson University, a minimum of 54 credits, will be used in this evaluation.

Due to time constraints associated with the printing of the programs, the honors listed therein were determined as of the end of the fall semester. The final listing for the commencement period will include those honors earned as of the completion of the spring semester, and diplomas will reflect this achievement.

This program does not represent an official list of certified graduates.

Allan E. Goodman

Doctor of Humane Letters

Kofi Annan, seventh secretary-general of the United Nations and Nobel Prize winner, once observed that “Education is, quite simply, peace-building by another name. It is the most effective form of defense spending there is.” His words embody the essence of your own life’s work as a scholar, diplomat and patriot.

You have dedicated your life to the pursuit of peace, building bridges across cultures through education. As president of the Institute of International Education (IIE), your efforts have created personal opportunities at the grassroots level for faculty and students to understand other cultures through first-hand experience.

You brought to your position a remarkable depth of insight, gained through decades of experience in education, international affairs and diplomacy. You came to the IIE from your role as executive dean of Georgetown University’s esteemed School of Foreign Service, having served previously as presidential briefing coordinator for the director of Central Intelligence in the Carter administration. The first American professor to lecture in the Foreign Affairs College of Beijing, you helped create our nation’s first academic exchange program with the Moscow Diplomatic Academy and developed the diplomatic training program of the Foreign Ministry of Vietnam.

At home in the United States, you promoted the benefits of learning other languages and international travel. You once said that international education is paramount if American students are to be equipped with the tools they need to thrive in our ever-changing and interconnected world, adding, “You can’t understand the world if you speak only one language and live only one culture; education is global.”

Through the IIE, you have spearheaded efforts to build educational collaboration across borders. You played a key role in expanding the institute’s work in rescuing students and scholars threatened by war, terrorism and repression and advancing academic freedom around the world. And you have sounded a clarion call to accommodate this “lost generation” of refugees, including young scholars cut off from their studies.

Your many awards include the Légion d’honneur from France, the Royal Norwegian Order of Merit and the inaugural Gilbert Medal for Internationalization by Universitas 21. In 2017, the International Association of University Presidents proudly honored you with its second J. Michael Adams Global Leadership and Service Award.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, the faculty concurring, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities thereunto attached, and cause you to be invested with the hood appropriate to that degree.

Marta L. Tellado

Presidential Citation

You once worked alongside consumer crusader Joan Claybrook, who famously said, “There is nothing beyond the reach of ordinary citizens doing the daily work of democracy, and no problem too great to tackle with the power of active citizenship.” Those are words you’ve lived by during three decades as a frontline advocate and leader for social justice and public interest.

Hailed a “transformational leader,” you have been a tireless advocate and champion for change as you tackled issues of social justice, public policy, consumer education and protection. As president and chief executive officer of Consumer Reports, you’ve wielded your position as the head of our nation’s top watchdog group to lift people’s voices as consumers and citizens.

Your passion for civic engagement can be traced to your childhood. Born in Cuba and raised in New Jersey, you’re the daughter of political refugees who instilled in you the importance of hard work and an active, informed citizenry.

You are an inspiration to the students who have followed you at Fairleigh Dickinson University. You spent a transformational semester at our University’s Wroxtton College campus in England before graduating with a bachelor’s degree in political science in 1981. You later earned both your master’s and doctorate in political science from Yale University.

Your esteemed career in public policy, advocacy and social justice began working alongside Ralph Nader and Ms. Claybrook at Public Citizen’s Congress Watch, a government watchdog group that champions consumer interests in Congress. You later counseled national leaders on key policy issues, identified and framed vital issues and made strategic choices through key leadership positions, including serving as executive director of the Aspen Institute’s Domestic Policy Group and as director for national issues and outreach for New Jersey Sen. Bill Bradley, as well as senior adviser on social policy during his 2000 presidential campaign. You also served as vice president of the Partnership for Public Service.

As vice president for global communications at the Ford Foundation, you led strategic communications and advocacy on a range of social-justice issues in the United States and around the world, including economic fairness, free and fair access to an open internet and civil rights. In 2014, you took the reins at Consumer Reports.

A valued member of the Fairleigh Dickinson University Board of Trustees for the past four years, you received the University’s Pinnacle Society award for outstanding alumni in 2014.

Today, we thank you for your countless contributions to our community and our world. For your life of exceptional service and visionary leadership, Fairleigh Dickinson University is proud to present you with our 2018 Presidential Citation.

Sedona Renee Hill

*Student Pinnacle Award
Metropolitan Campus*

Sedona Renee Hill of Atlantic City, N.J., will graduate magna cum laude with a B.S. in business administration — international business concentration and art minor. Elected to the Student Government Association, she was academic affairs senator, vice president and executive secretary. Sedona was also president of the National Residence Hall Honorary, president of Business Leaders of Tomorrow, resident assistant, member of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority and the University Honors and Global Scholars programs and student affairs scholarship recipient. Sedona has traveled to all seven continents and has started a foundation to help inner-city children build confidence and learn financial literacy. After graduation, she plans to pursue an M.B.A in finance at FDU and work as graduate hall director at FDU's Residence Life Office.

Peter Mate

*Student Pinnacle Award
Vancouver Campus*

Peter Mate is a second-generation Hungarian-Filipino-Canadian from Vancouver. His goal is a career in international public policy in Canada's federal government. At the Vancouver Campus, Peter was a Global Scholar and president of the Model United Nations Association. He was also a project assistant in the Modernist Versions Project — an international literature-transcription initiative enabling low-income students to freely access works by renowned authors such as Ernest Hemingway, Oscar Wilde and Sigmund Freud. A public relations internship in New York and international relations studies at the Central European University in Hungary enabled Peter to represent Canada at the 2017 Youth Trends Forum in Taiwan. This summer, he will graduate summa cum laude with a B.A. in individualized studies specializing in international relations and communications.

Marialaina Nissenbaum

*Student Pinnacle Award
Florham Campus*

Marialaina Nissenbaum of Fords, N.J., will graduate cum laude with a B.A. in psychology with a concentration in behavioral neuroscience and double minors in mathematics and biology. An accomplished student leader, Marialaina was chapter founder and president for FDU GlamourGals, an organization committed to providing companionship and complimentary beauty makeovers to women living in senior homes, and president of the Catholic Campus Ministry. She was also an orientation leader, a teacher's assistant in biology and a tutor in the Academic Support Center. A mentor for and member of the Florham Honors Program, she was also a member of the Beta Beta Beta and Phi Zeta Kappa honor societies. After graduation, Marialaina plans to pursue a Ph.D. in behavior and systems neuroscience at Rutgers University.

THE PRESIDENT

Christopher A. Capuano became the University’s eighth president on July 1, 2016. Capuano previously held a series of leadership positions at the University over a period of more than 25 years, most recently as University provost and senior vice president for academic affairs. As the key leader in the development of the University’s five-year strategic plan, his main focus is implementing the plan and further raising the University’s stature.

As University provost, he provided important decision making in forming a strong leadership team in the School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences, which resulted in consistent enrollment growth and full accreditation with the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education. In addition, he was instrumental in securing a large gift to support the University’s Daniel and Martina Lewis Center for Healthcare Innovation and Technology.

Prior to becoming University provost and senior vice president for academic affairs, Capuano served as vice provost for international affairs. In that position, he provided oversight of the University’s Office of Global Partnerships and worked closely with the University’s Office of Global Learning to facilitate study abroad and other international initiatives. Moreover, he led the development of the University’s new campus in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, and served as the Vancouver Campus provost for a year during a critical transition period.

As director of the School of Psychology for nearly 15 years and a former doctoral faculty member in the University’s Ph.D. Program in Clinical Psychology and Psy.D. Program in School Psychology — Capuano provided important leadership in developing the school into one of the largest and more prestigious schools at the University. His many accomplishments in this position included establishment of the postdoctoral certificate program in clinical psychopharmacology and its transition to a postdoctoral Master of Science degree program — a program that has earned national recognition and is currently only one of just a few programs recognized by the American Psychological Association for postdoctoral training in clinical psychopharmacology.

As a former faculty member and biopsychologist by training, Capuano introduced and taught key compulsory courses in both doctoral programs in the School of Psychology. His research included the design, implementation and supervision of experiments in neuropsychopharmacology and health psychology.

Capuano earned his Ph.D. in biopsychology and two master’s degrees from the Graduate and University Center of the City University of New York, as well as his B.S. in biological sciences from Purdue University.

TRADITIONALLY...

Traditions link the present to the past and the future. In addition to the academic customs exhibited in the Commencement ceremony, Fairleigh Dickinson University has several unique traditions on display today.

At Fairleigh Dickinson, the academic processional includes the bagpipers, a practice dating back to the University’s eighth commencement in 1951. Since then, it has become a tradition at graduation and other ceremonies for the pipers to play.

Other traditions recognize Fairleigh Dickinson University’s global and multicultural background. International flags have become a part of many ceremonies and events. The University has returned to a tradition established by its founder, Peter Sammartino, of having all join in the singing of the “Alma Mater.”

THE UNIVERSITY

Fairleigh Dickinson University looks back with tremendous pride to the accomplishments achieved and looks ahead to even greater levels of excellence.

Founded in 1942 by Dr. Peter Sammartino and his wife, Sylvia (Sally), Fairleigh Dickinson University has grown into the largest private university in New Jersey. More than 12,000 students from 42 states and 77 other countries are enrolled on FDU's two campuses in New Jersey and its overseas campuses in Wroxton, England, and Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Beginning as a two-year junior college in Rutherford, today the University offers nearly 100 degree programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels. Fairleigh Dickinson University strongly emphasizes an international component to its curriculum and provides its students with a global and multicultural perspective.

The University has consistently been an innovator, adapting to the changing educational demands of the students it serves. Responding to the need for higher education in northern New Jersey, the college expanded to a four-year curricula in 1948.

In 1954, the first graduate program — a master's degree in business administration — was offered, and Bergen Junior College in Teaneck was purchased as a second campus. In 1956, Fairleigh Dickinson attained university status. One year later, the beautiful 178-acre Vanderbilt-Twombly estate in Florham Park and Madison, New Jersey, was acquired to serve as another campus.

FDU became the first American university to own a campus in England when it acquired Wroxton College from Trinity College, Oxford University. Opened in 1965, Wroxton College offers American students an array of graduate and undergraduate programs as well as an enriching cultural experience. Formerly a 13th-century abbey, Wroxton College is now a beautifully restored and modernized Jacobean mansion.

Recognizing that the student profile on most U.S. campuses is changing dramatically, the University's Anthony J. Petrocelli College of Continuing Studies (originally New College of General and Continuing Studies) was formed in 1998 to provide a unified approach to and enhanced focus on the adult learner and to continue to position FDU as a leader in providing learning opportunities in a strong academic foundation for students of all ages.

Over the years Fairleigh Dickinson University has maintained its commitment to broadening global horizons and fostering greater international understanding. In 2000, the Board of Trustees adopted a newly focused mission for FDU: "Fairleigh Dickinson University is a center of academic excellence dedicated to the preparation of world citizens through global education. The University strives to provide students with the multidisciplinary, intercultural and ethical understandings necessary to participate, lead and prosper in the global marketplace of ideas, commerce and culture."

In addition to Wroxton College, the University opened its second international campus in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, in fall 2007.

Each of the University campuses has developed a unique character and vitality. The Metropolitan Campus, located in Teaneck, features a university atmosphere with an international perspective attracting nearly equal numbers of graduate and undergraduate students from throughout the United States and around the world. Fairleigh Dickinson's Florham Campus in suburban Madison offers a classical undergraduate and graduate experience for the contemporary world in a small college setting.

The Silberman College of Business is accredited by the prestigious AACSB International – The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business and has been named among the nation's best by The Princeton Review. Many other programs are also highly ranked, and the University has been cited for being among the best programs for veterans and for providing students exceptional value.

Fairleigh Dickinson University has enjoyed special partnerships with prominent institutions around the globe. For example, the University has been associated with the United Nations since it was founded in 1945 and has earned special designations with the world body that provide unique learning opportunities for students and faculty.

With the depth and breadth of its faculty and programs, Fairleigh Dickinson University has positioned itself as a quality, comprehensive private university serving the citizens of New Jersey and beyond.

INTERNATIONALLY DIVERSE

In addition to the United States and the U.S. island territories, Fairleigh Dickinson University students hail from a wide cross section of countries including Afghanistan, Albania, Argentina, Australia, Bangladesh, Belarus, Brazil, Cambodia, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Czech Republic, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, Ethiopia, France, Gambia, Germany, Guatemala, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, Kuwait, Latvia, Lebanon, Libya, Lithuania, Malaysia, Mexico, Mongolia, Morocco, Myanmar, Nepal, Netherlands, Netherlands Antilles, New Zealand, Nigeria, North Korea, Pakistan, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Russia, Saudi Arabia, Serbia, South Africa, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Taiwan, Thailand, Tunisia, Turkey, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, United Arab Emirates, United Kingdom, Venezuela, Vietnam, Yemen Arab Republic, Zimbabwe.

CLASS OF 1968

The Fairleigh Dickinson University community is pleased to acknowledge and congratulate members of the class of 1968 as they celebrate a milestone this year — the 50th anniversary of their graduation.

PILLAR SOCIETY

The Pillar Society was instituted to recognize those exceptional individuals who have made extraordinary contributions to the character and quality of the University, its community and culture. Criteria include serving FDU in a non-faculty role for at least 10 years on a level below the rank of vice president. Recipients are invited to participate in the Commencement ceremony procession.

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The academic regalia worn by University officials and faculty at today's Commencement ceremony are infrequently seen outside of formal academic occasions.

The gowns, caps and hoods once were the regular apparel of European university students and faculty during the Middle Ages.

At that time, both faculty and students were considered part of the clergy and were required to don the ecclesiastical dress, roba and caputum, patterned after the habit of the Benedictine Order.

The regalia also served a practical purpose, providing warmth in the unheated stone buildings of most medieval universities.

In the United States, caps and gowns had been in limited use by colleges and universities since Colonial times. It was not until a century later that a widespread student movement resulted in the formal use of the attire at commencement ceremonies.

Faculty members readily accepted the return to a dignified and traditional dress for graduations and soon extended the custom to other formal academic functions.

By 1895, a uniform code for academic dress had been adopted in the United States, and although no formal worldwide standards have ever existed, certain basic and traditional elements are evident in most academic attire.

The Gowns

Participants in academic ceremonies are expected to wear the regalia to which they are entitled by virtue of the highest degree they hold.

Gowns worn by those with bachelor's degrees are distinguished by a semi-stiff yoke, long pleated front, intricate shirring across the shoulders and back and long pointed sleeves open at the wrists. The gown must be worn closed.

Master's degree holders wear a similar gown of either silk or wool with the same yoke effect as the bachelor's degree robe. The master's gown may be worn either open or closed in the front.

The doctor's gown, also worn either open or closed, is usually made of silk and velvet with full and round sleeves open at the wrists. These gowns are distinguished by long velvet panels down the front of the gown and three horizontal velvet sleeve bars, which may be either black or the color distinctive of the academic discipline in which the individual holds the doctoral degree.

Although the color of these gowns is traditionally black, some institutions have adopted robes in their school colors.

The Caps

The most familiar item of academic regalia is the Oxford or mortarboard cap with its distinctive tassel. Explanations of its origin include suggestions that its shape was inspired by the quadrangular Oxford campus or by the actual master workman's mortarboard. Perhaps a more plausible theory is that it was designed flat and about the size of a scholar's book for ease in carrying. Material for most caps varies from serge and broadcloth to rayon and silk, although caps worn by doctoral degree recipients may be of velvet.

The most distinctive feature of the cap is the tassel, which is positioned to hang from the left front quadrant of the cap. The tassel is black for bachelor's and master's degree holders, but gold for Ph.D.s and the primary governing officials of an institution. While the mortarboard cap is used by the vast majority of institutions around the world, some schools have adopted a soft, square-topped cap, but still retain the tassel.

The Hoods

The most distinctive feature of academic attire, the hood lends color and definition to academic ceremonies. Once used as a head covering, a shoulder cape and even a receptacle for collecting alms in medieval times, the hood is now a purely ceremonial black shell of varying sizes and colored borders suspended from the shoulders and worn down the back.

The significance of academic hoods is symbolized in their varying lengths and the colors and thicknesses of their velvet linings and trim. The bachelor's hood, for example, is three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet border. Master's degree recipients wear a hood three-and-a-half feet long with a three-inch border. Doctoral hoods are four feet long and have a five-inch-wide border.

More distinctive, however, are the colors of the hoods' inner linings and outer trim. The colors of the inner lining correspond to the colors of the institution conferring the degree, while the colors of the border designate the academic discipline in which the degree was granted.

THE MACE

The mace, a traditional symbol of authority, is carried in the academic procession by the grand marshal. The Fairleigh Dickinson University mace was presented to the University in 1957 by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pollak of New York City. It is one of only three maces of its type in the United States and was purchased for the University from Seymour B. Wyler, author of The Book of Sheffield Plate and The Book of Old Silver.

A very rare example of 18th-century Sheffield plate, it was made in 1765 for the Riddell family and bears its crest. A member of that family was an English representative to the Holland town of Duysberg.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

Along with the traditional academic regalia and trappings common to colleges and universities throughout the United States, most institutions also possess some unique or distinctive symbol of the presidential office that is conveyed through succeeding administrations. Fairleigh Dickinson University commissioned the design and crafting of a President's Medallion for the inauguration of Robert H. Donaldson on March 29, 1985.

The President's Medallion is in the form of a hexagonal shield, a variation of the University "Shield of Arms." In the center of the Medallion is the gold-plated coat of arms. The motto, Fortiter et Suaviter (Bravely and Pleasurably), is engraved above the shield, and around it are engraved the words "Fairleigh Dickinson University 1942." The gold-plated frame of the Medallion is surmounted by a crest consisting of buildings symbolizing the campuses.

Kurt J. Matzdorf, professor emeritus of gold and silver-smithing at the State University of New York, College at New Paltz, and internationally known for his ceremonial and religious silver, designed and created the President's Medallion.
