DEGREE CANDIDATES

College at Florham degree candidates, see page 11.
Metropolitan Campus degree candidates, see page 20.
See inside back cover for arena seating plan.

Note: An undergraduate student whose cumulative grade point ratio (CGPR) for four years is 3.85 will receive his or her degree summa cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.67, magna cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.33, cum laude. Only weighted grades will be included in computing honors. Only the credits taken at Fairleigh Dickinson University, a minimum of 54 credits, will be used in this evaluation. These criteria apply to all undergraduate students entering the University as of August/September 2006. Students enrolled prior to August/September 2006 will continue to be evaluated under the criteria of the policy in effect when they enrolled.

Due to time constraints associated with the printing of the programs, the honors listed therein were determined as of the end of the fall semester. The final listing for the commencement period will include those honors earned as of the completion of the spring semester, and diplomas will reflect this achievement.

This program does not represent an official list of certified graduates.
Walter Minor Berwick IV
Doctor of Humane Letters

A 1965 graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University, you have led a life most people only dream of — a life of intrigue, espionage and selfless courage.

Like a John le Carré novel complete with danger, action and twisting plots, you coolly went about the business of defending your nation during 25 years with the Central Intelligence Agency. You served at the height of the Cold War, often working behind enemy lines. Operating clandestinely throughout the world, you gathered information and tracked movements of key Russians, Cubans and Chinese. You later described the meaning you found in your work, secure in the confidence that “you are obtaining information that no one else can, and that you are helping to provide policymakers with a clear picture.”

You retired in 1990 with a rank equivalent to an Army general, moving on to another equally important and dangerous career — establishing your own international security company specializing in kidnap and ransom recoveries. When your country called upon you following 9/11, you quickly returned to government service, training young officers in espionage and personally taking on overseas counter-terrorist assignments.

Your lifelong commitment to service was evident at an early age. After graduating from high school, you joined the Navy where you excelled as an electronics technician, achieving the rank of ET2 (Electronics Technician Second Class) by age 19 — the youngest sailor to reach that level. Four years later, you enrolled at FDU and became a top student and athlete. You also shifted to the Naval Reserve, training in submarines and at Officer Candidate School during the summers. Your achievements were many: senior class president, captain and high scorer of the basketball team and Rhodes Scholar nominee. Most recently, you have shared your experiences and insights with the University’s homeland security academic program.

For your willingness to accept difficult and dangerous assignments in defense of our nation and the safety of innocent citizens, and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, the faculty concurring, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities thereunto attached, and cause you to be invested with the hood appropriate to that degree.

Malaak Compton-Rock
Doctor of Humane Letters

On your 23rd birthday, you were given a book by Marian Wright Edelman with a simple message: “Service is the rent we pay for living.” It is a credo that would forever change the way you looked at yourself and the world around you.

Concluding that “I’m not paying my rent,” you left a demanding job at a high-powered Manhattan public relations firm to pursue a life of greater meaning and purpose. You found your true calling when you went to work for UNICEF — The United Nations Children’s Fund — to recruit celebrities for fundraising efforts. It was your “defining moment,” inspiring you to dedicate your life to the nonprofit world.

After witnessing sweeping changes in welfare laws, you combined your flair for style with your fundraising talents to found the nonprofit styleWORKS, providing makeovers — and newfound confidence — to women rejoining the work force after living on public assistance. “I want to give women that final touch, an appropriate appearance that presents no barriers while on the job,” you said.

A tireless activist and philanthropist, you recently founded The Angelrock Project, an e-village promoting volunteerism and social responsibility, focusing on issues close to your heart, including youth and women’s empowerment and education. Believing that today’s children are tomorrow’s global leaders, you created Journey for Change, taking at-risk youth from Brooklyn to South Africa and empowering them through global service.

Through Champions for Children you have mobilized prominent figures in entertainment, sports and business as advocates for the prevention of child abuse. You have also used your influence and connections to raise money to fight breast cancer, help AIDS orphans and provide relief to Hurricane Katrina victims. Above all, you believe that each of us can — and must — assume personal responsibility as agents of change and healing.

For your enduring commitment to service and boundless compassion toward others, and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, the faculty concurring, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities thereunto attached, and cause you to be invested with the hood appropriate to that degree.
Enan Galaly
Doctor of Humane Letters

For the ancient Greeks, hospitality was a sacred act — so important that it was under the protection of Zeus. Hosts were expected to welcome strangers, offer them protection and guide them to their next destination. Throughout your career in the hospitality industry, you have brought new meaning to the word, treating not only your guests, but your employees, with respect and dignity.

Driven by a desire to see the world, you left your native Egypt as a young man for Vienna, surviving by selling newspapers, while living on the streets. With 10 English pounds in your pocket, you then moved to Denmark, washing dishes in exchange for meals.

You believe in the power of experience because that is what propelled you, climbing the ladder from dishwasher to hotel tycoon. With little money and no formal education, you learned the hospitality business working many different jobs, and supplementing your training through college classes in hotel and restaurant studies, business and economics.

Just 10 years after leaving your homeland, you took over as managing director and board member of the Hvide Hus Hotel chain in 1977. Five years later, you founded Helnan International — now a leading international hotel management and development company with luxury hotels in major cities around the globe.

Today, you are regarded as an international entrepreneur with a socially meaningful vision. Helnan is known for supporting cultural affairs and educational training programs. You have represented Denmark's hotel and tourism industry by serving on numerous delegations, earning recognition as a “Knight of Dannebrog” — one of that nation's highest honors.

Fluent in four languages, you easily communicate with various nationalities during your travels and as a senior adviser to the International Association of University Presidents. You've earned international praise for your efforts to enhance intercultural understanding between Arab and Western peoples and Muslims and non-Muslims.

For your enduring commitment to learning and your support of cultural and educational initiatives worldwide, and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, the faculty concurring, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities thereunto attached, and cause you to be invested with the hood appropriate to that degree.

Steven R. Rothman
Doctor of Humane Letters

You entered the political arena with the noble dream of making a difference in the life of the common man — a goal that you have faithfully executed throughout your career. For more than two decades, you have served the people of New Jersey in the courts and in public office as mayor, judge and statesman. You have risen through the congressional ranks to become a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee and subcommittees dealing with defense, state and foreign operations and homeland security.

As a private-practice attorney, you won awards for your pro bono legal service to the poor, the disabled and the elderly. As a seven-term representative of the Garden State’s Ninth Congressional District, you have been a strong and independent voice, championing the environment, affordable housing and benefits for military veterans.

When you campaigned for re-election last fall, The Record declared you “ethical and effective” with “a strong reputation for integrity.” The Herald News called you a “hard worker for the district” who has “proven his dedication.”

Environmentalists credit your leadership as vital to saving New Jersey’s precious Meadowlands and Hackensack River watershed from further pollution and development. You helped secure more than $10 million in federal funds to turn the wetlands into an environmental park. You also led the fight against aircraft noise at Teterboro Airport, prompting The Leader newspapers to write, “Lots of political muscle is behind the cause, but Congressman Steve Rothman is proving to be the MVP.”

You have dedicated your efforts to other critical issues, including improvements to overcrowded local roads and commuter rail for Bergen County. You are a powerful voice for working families and individuals, fighting for funds to improve the quality of education, supporting policies to improve working conditions and benefits, and supporting tax cuts for those who need them most.

For your tireless efforts to serve the citizens of New Jersey with honor and compassion, and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, the faculty concurring, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities thereunto attached, and cause you to be invested with the hood appropriate to that degree.
Sheryl Antoinette Gauntlett
Student Pinnacle Award
Metropolitan Campus

From the beginning of her freshman year, Sheryl Gauntlett was on a mission to become involved in campus life. She succeeded, to put it mildly — winning elections and volunteering for leadership posts in a variety of student organizations. A communications major enrolled in the five-year accelerated program in media and professional communication, Gauntlett has completed her bachelor's degree and will receive her master's degree in media and professional communication next year.

In her first weeks on the Metropolitan Campus, she attended nearly every activity hosted by student life. She quickly demonstrated her leadership skills and was elected secretary of the Inspirational Gospel Ensemble (IGE) and treasurer of Black Men’s Alliance in her sophomore year. She recently served as president of IGE, student body liaison for the Communication Honor Society and parliamentarian and public relations chair of the Student Government Association.

High academic standards and a strong work ethic resulted in her recognition as a Col. Fairleigh S. Dickinson Scholar, Charter Day Scholar and member of two University honor societies and Lambda Pi Eta, the official communication studies honor society of the National Communication Association. Gauntlett's name has appeared on the Dean's List every semester of her undergraduate career.

Her study-abroad experiences, through the Global Scholars program, have included trips to the Dominican Republic, Cyprus and Belize. During her junior year, Gauntlett spent a semester at FDU’s Wroxton College in England. In addition to enjoying the rigorous academic experience at Wroxton, she traveled to France, Spain, Italy, Scotland and Wales.

A member of the University Honors Program, she presented her senior honors thesis, “Communicating Effectively with Body Language,” at Research Day in April. Gauntlett, a resident of Tyngsboro, Mass., also attended three National Collegiate Honors Council Conferences and presented papers in Providence, R.I.; Annapolis, Md.; and Morristown, N.J.

David Storicks
Student Pinnacle Award
College at Florham

In his time at Fairleigh Dickinson, David Storicks took maximum advantage of a wide array of educational and extracurricular opportunities on campus — student government, study abroad, theater, academics and student journalism — and excelled at every one.

Despite being severely injured in a motorcycle accident one year ago, he has completed an accelerated five-year program leading to a master's degree in teaching. Storicks, who has a bachelor's degree in theater arts with a minor in history, was cast in nine FDU theater program productions, taking a lead role in five of them, including the hit musical “The Rocky Horror Picture Show”; most recently, he played the role of Sky Masterson in “Guys and Dolls.”

He served as president of the Student Government Association and studied abroad at FDU’s Wroxton College in England, while student-teaching at the Wroxton village elementary school. In addition, Storicks was a resident assistant, vice president of student affairs for the Resident Student Association and a writer for The Metro student newspaper.

The Dean of Students Office presented the 2008 Burden Award for Meritorious Achievement to Storicks, who was also a Charter Day Scholar and a Col. Fairleigh S. Dickinson Scholar. As an undergraduate, he regularly made the Dean’s List and was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Storicks, a resident of Dumont, N.J., found time to give back to the community, serving as assistant coach of the Dumont High School forensics team and director of Neil Simon's “Rumors” for Summertime Players, a program for high school students in Park Ridge, N.J. He has volunteered his time to the University community by serving on several committees, including the 2007 Strategic Planning Committee, the Recruitment and Retention Committee, Campus Council and the 50th Anniversary of the College at Florham Committee, among others.

THE PRESIDENT

Widely known for his commitment to international education and to fostering cross-cultural understanding, J. Michael Adams joined Fairleigh Dickinson University as president on July 1, 1999.

At the University, he has inspired a new mission building on long-standing traditions. The mission — to prepare world citizens through global education — was adopted by the Board of Trustees and endorsed by the faculty in 2000. Since then, Adams has led the development of numerous initiatives designed to integrate the global mission throughout the University.

Prior to joining FDU, Adams served 15 years as academic dean of the Nesbitt College of Design Arts at Drexel University in Philadelphia, Pa. Adams led the transformation of Nesbitt College into one of the premier design schools in the United States.

He went to Drexel from the State University of New York at Oswego, where he served as chair of the department of industrial technology and professor of education. Adams also held positions as director of research development (1979 to 1981) and dean of the alumni college (1982 to 1984). From 1975 to 1976, he served as a U.S. Congressional Fellow.

The author of nine books, Adams’ publications and research cover a wide variety of topics including print, publishing, communication and career development as well as topics specific to higher education. His most recent book, Coming of Age in a Globalized World: The Next Generation, explores the impact of globalization and examines the case for world citizenship through global education.

Adams is active with many national and international education organizations. In 2008, he was named president-elect of the International Association of University Presidents (IAUP). He is chair of the IAUP North American Council and is an IAUP representative to the United Nations. He also serves on the U.N./IAUP Commission on Disarmament Education, Conflict Resolution and Peace and is a National Council member of the United Nations Association of the United States. of America. Adams also is a member of the Steering Committee of the World Bank's Researchers Alliance for Development and the Editorial Advisory Board for International Educator, the flagship bimonthly magazine of NAFSA: Association of International Educators.

Adams holds a B.S. from Illinois State University, Normal; an M.S. from University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign; and a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. In 1997, he attended Harvard University's Institute for Educational Management and, in 1999, Harvard's Institute for New Presidents.

THE UNIVERSITY

Fairleigh Dickinson University looks back with tremendous pride to the accomplishments achieved and looks ahead to even greater levels of excellence.

Founded in 1942 by Dr. Peter Sammartino and his wife, Sylvia (Sally), Fairleigh Dickinson University has grown into the largest private university in New Jersey. More than 12,000 students from 37 states and 88 other countries are enrolled on FDU’s two campuses in New Jersey and its overseas campuses in Wroxton, England, and Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Beginning as a two-year junior college in Rutherford, today the University offers more than 100 degree programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master’s and doctoral levels. Fairleigh Dickinson University strongly emphasizes an international component in its curriculum and provides its students with a global and multicultural perspective.

The University has consistently been an innovator, adapting to the changing educational demands of the students it serves. Responding to the need for higher education in northern New Jersey, the college expanded to a four-year curricula in 1948.

In 1954, the first graduate program — a master’s degree in business administration — was offered, and Bergen Junior College in Teaneck was purchased as a second campus. In 1956, Fairleigh Dickinson attained university status. One year later, the beautiful 178-acre Vanderbilt-Twombly estate in Florham Park and Madison, New Jersey, was acquired to serve as another campus.

FDU became the first American university to own a campus in England when it acquired Wroxton College from Trinity College, Oxford University. Opened in 1965, Wroxton College offers American students an array of graduate and undergraduate programs as well as an enriching cultural experience. Formerly a 13th-century abbey, Wroxton College is now a beautifully restored and modernized Jacobean mansion.

Established in 1998, the Anthony J. Petrocelli College of Continuing Studies addresses the special educational needs of nontraditional students, including adult learners.

Over the years Fairleigh Dickinson University has maintained its commitment to broadening global horizons and fostering greater international understanding. In 2000, the Board of Trustees adopted a newly focused mission for FDU: to prepare students for world citizenship through global education.

In addition to Wroxton College, the University opened its second international campus in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, in fall 2007.

Each of the University campuses has developed a unique character and vitality. The Metropolitan Campus, located in Teaneck, features a university atmosphere with an international perspective attracting nearly equal numbers of graduate and undergraduate students. from throughout the United States and around the world. Fairleigh Dickinson's College at Florham in suburban Madison offers a classical undergraduate and graduate experience for the contemporary world in a small college setting.

With the depth and breadth of its faculty and programs, Fairleigh Dickinson University has positioned itself as a quality, comprehensive private university serving global citizens throughout the world.

CLASS OF 1959

The Fairleigh Dickinson University community is pleased to acknowledge and congratulate members of the class of 1959 as they celebrate a milestone this year — the 50th anniversary of their graduation. FDU’s first graduating class, the class of 1944, also is congratulated as the members celebrate the 65th anniversary of their graduation.

TRADITIONALLY...

Traditions link the present to the past and the future. In addition to the academic customs exhibited in the Commencement ceremony, Fairleigh Dickinson University has several unique traditions on display today.

At Fairleigh Dickinson, the academic processional includes the bagpipers, a practice dating back to the University's eighth commencement in 1951. Since then, it has become a tradition at graduation and other ceremonies for the pipers to play.

Other traditions recognize Fairleigh Dickinson University's global and multicultural background. International flags have become a part of many ceremonies and events. Whenever a spiritual thought is appropriate, a diversity of views is presented. In addition to the singing of the “Alma Mater,” the University has returned to a tradition established by its founder, Peter Sammartino, of having all join in the singing of the time-honored “Auld Lang Syne.”

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The academic regalia worn by University officials and faculty at today's commencement ceremony are infrequently seen outside of formal academic occasions. The gowns, caps and hoods once were the regular apparel of European university students and faculty during the Middle Ages. At that time, both faculty and students were considered part of the clergy and were required to don the ecclesiastical dress, roba and caputum, patterned after the habit of the Benedictine Order. The regalia also served a practical purpose, providing warmth in the unheated stone buildings of most medieval universities.

In the United States, caps and gowns had been in limited use by colleges and universities since Colonial times. It was not until a century later that a widespread student movement resulted in the formal use of the attire at commencement ceremonies. Faculty members readily accepted the return to a dignified and traditional dress for graduations and soon extended the custom to other formal academic functions. By 1895, a uniform code for academic dress had been adopted in the United States, and although no formal worldwide standards have ever existed, certain basic and traditional elements are evident in most academic attire.

The Gowns

Participants in academic ceremonies are expected to wear the regalia to which they are entitled by virtue of the highest degree they hold.

Gowns worn by those with bachelor's degrees are distinguished by a semi-stiff yoke, long pleated front, intricate shirring across the shoulders and back and long pointed sleeves open at the wrists. The gown must be worn closed.

Master's degree holders wear a similar gown of either silk or wool with the same yoke effect as the bachelor's degree robe. The master's gown may be worn either open or closed in the front. Other variations in the master's degree gown include oblong and square cut sleeves closed at the wrists and an arc-like section of material in the front of the garment.

The doctor's gown, also worn either open or closed, is usually made of silk and velvet with full and round sleeves open at the wrists. These gowns are distinguished by long velvet panels down the front of the gown and three horizontal velvet sleeve bars, which may be either black or the color distinctive of the academic discipline in which the individual holds the doctoral degree. Although the color of these gowns is traditionally black, some institutions have adopted robes in their school colors.

The Caps

The most familiar item of academic regalia is the Oxford or mortarboard cap with its distinctive tassel. Explanations of its origin include suggestions that its shape was inspired by the quadrangular Oxford campus or by the actual master workman's mortarboard. Perhaps a more plausible theory is that it was designed flat and about the size of a scholar's book for ease in carrying. Material for most caps varies from serge and broadcloth to rayon and silk, although caps worn by doctoral degree recipients may be of velvet.

The most distinctive feature of the cap is the tassel, which is positioned to hang from the left front quadrant of the cap. The tassel is black for bachelor's and master's degree holders, but gold for Ph.D.'s and the primary governing officials of an institution. While the mortarboard cap is used by the vast majority of institutions around the world, some schools have adopted a soft, square-topped cap, but still retain the tassel.
The Hoods

The most distinctive feature of academic attire, the hood lends color and definition to academic ceremonies. Once used as a head covering, a shoulder cape and even a receptacle for collecting alms in medieval times, the hood is now a purely ceremonial black shell of varying sizes and colored borders suspended from the shoulders and worn down the back.

The significance of academic hoods is symbolized in their varying lengths and the colors and thicknesses of their velvet linings and trim. The bachelor's hood, for example, is three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet border. Master's degree recipients wear a hood three-and-a-half feet long with a three-inch border. Doctoral hoods are four feet long and have a five-inch-wide border.

More distinctive, however, are the colors of the hoods' inner linings and outer trim. The colors of the inner lining correspond to the colors of the institution conferring the degree, while the colors of the border designate the academic discipline in which the degree was granted. THE MACE

The mace, a traditional symbol of authority, is carried in the academic procession by the grand marshal. The Fairleigh Dickinson University mace was presented to the University in 1957 by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pollak of New York City. It is one of only three maces of its type in the United States and was purchased for the University from Seymour B. Wyler, author of The Book of Sheffield Plate and The Book of Old Silver.

A very rare example of 18th-century Sheffield plate, it was made in 1765 for the Riddell family and bears its crest. A member of that family was an English representative to the Holland town of Duysberg.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

Along with the traditional academic regalia and trappings common to colleges and universities throughout the United States, most institutions also possess some unique or distinctive symbol of the presidential office that is conveyed through succeeding administrations. Fairleigh Dickinson University commissioned the design and crafting of a President's Medallion for the inauguration of Robert H. Donaldson on March 29, 1985.

The President's Medallion is in the form of a hexagonal shield, a variation of the University "Shield of Arms." In the center of the Medallion is the gold-plated coat of arms. The motto, Fortiter et Suaviter (Bravely and Pleasantly), is engraved above the shield, and around it are engraved the words "Fairleigh Dickinson University 1942.” The gold-plated frame of the Medallion is surmounted by a crest consisting of buildings symbolizing the campuses.

Kurt J. Matzdorf, professor of gold and silversmithing emeritus at the State University of New York at New Paltz, and internationally known for his ceremonial and religious silver, designed and created the President's Medallion.

ALMA MATER

Goodhart-Davis

Praise to thee, O Alma Mater, faithfully we sing,
Hear our joyful voices ringing, Fairleigh Dickinson.
Campus halls, that oft recall us, memories will bring,
Campus lights will ever guide us, when the day is done.

Chorus

Alma Mater, we will cherish each day of the years,
We were privileged to spend here, tho' our parting nears.

AULD LANG SYNE

Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And days of auld lang syne?

For auld lang syne, my dear,
For auld lang syne.
We'll take a cup of kindness yet,
For auld lang syne.
