August 24, 2007

Students of Fairleigh Dickinson University's Vancouver Campus,

Fairleigh Dickinson University prides itself on being the leader in global education. How better to pursue this goal, then to establish its second overseas campus now located in Vancouver, Canada. FDU-Vancouver offers undergraduate students one of the few opportunities to earn an American college degree while studying in Canada; all the perks of an American education whilst studying abroad.

You have an amazing opportunity waiting before you. You will learn quickly what it is like to see the world from a different point of view. You will encounter new people, accents, currency, shops, clothes, and much more. Situated in the hustle and bustle of town, Fairleigh Dickinson's Vancouver Campus gives you the opportunity to experience another country without being too far away from the comfort of the United States.

Fairleigh Dickinson University strives to provide students with a multidisciplinary, intercultural and ethical understanding that is necessary in order to participate, lead and prosper in the global marketplace of ideas, commerce and culture. You are now on that path towards becoming a truly global citizen and broadening your prospects for the future.

It is with my great pleasure that I welcome you to the Fairleigh Dickinson University Vancouver Campus. May your time there widen your views of the world we live in and bring you closer to your goals.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Zoe Ogilvie
President of the Student Government Association
Metropolitan Campus