Fact Sheet

What is LiLA?
Law in the Liberal Arts (LiLA) is FDU’s new legal studies program. LiLA combines a traditional liberal arts education with opportunities to gain practical, hands on experience in the legal world. Through LiLA you will make lifelong connections that will help you advance your career and your education. LiLA is not a minor, but rather an 18 credit integrated course of study in which you will receive real world legal experience.

Admissons and Who Should Join?
LiLA is open to all undergraduate students at FDU who have an interest in the law. Most LiLA students will apply for the program after admission to FDU and before the fall advising sessions.

Requirements:
- Completed LiLA application and writing prompt
- Summary of academic achievement or résumé
- Upon admission students must maintain a 3.0 GPA

Why Join LiLA?
LiLA connects you with opportunities to engage with the law and people who are influential in the legal community. You will experience the law first hand through classroom learning and exclusive field experiences. LiLA provides all students with skills that are applicable to a wide variety of careers. It is not required or expected that all LiLA students will go on to law or graduate school.

LiLA Snapshot
LiLA is an integrated and sequential course of study. You will engage, debate, and analyze a wide variety of topics including:
- The Internet and privacy
- Terrorism and executive power
- Free speech and civil liberties
- Effective legal communication and writing

Mentorship Program
As part of LiLA’s unique approach to teaching law, all LiLA students partake in a mentorship program with professionals who are active in diverse areas of the law such as international criminal law and entertainment law.

Hands on with the Law
In addition to the mentorship program, LiLA offers exclusive field experiences and professional preparation, which include:
- Court visits
- Law firm days
- LSAT training

Experts and Scholars
As a LiLA student you will have access to accomplished legal minds who will assist in guiding you through your undergraduate law experience and provide you with support for your career and intellectual development.
