Today’s NJ Nursing Scholars… Are Tomorrow’s Nursing Faculty

The New Jersey Nursing Initiative Faculty Preparation Program is offering an exciting opportunity to become a nurse faculty member. As a Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) New Jersey Nursing Scholar, you will prepare for a rewarding career teaching the next generation of nurses in the state. Support is available as you earn a Master of Science degree in nursing:

- Fairleigh Dickinson University:
  Adult Nurse Practitioner with additional preparation in education

- Monmouth University:
  Nursing Education with additional preparation in a clinical specialty

If you are selected for this program, you will receive a scholarship covering tuition and fees, and a $50,000 per year stipend to cover living expenses for the two years you spend as a full-time student.

Each scholar will also receive a laptop computer and PDA.

To Be Eligible, You Must:

1) Meet admission requirements, be accepted and enroll as a full-time student in a Master of Science program at one of the following programs:
   - Fairleigh Dickinson University: Adult Nurse Practitioner
   - Monmouth University: Nursing Education

2) Never have taken graduate level courses

3) Be a United States citizen or permanent resident

4) Submit an application, along with a two-page, double-spaced essay, by February 27, 2010

If accepted, New Jersey Nursing Scholars must:

1) Enroll and matriculate in a full-time progression of courses in an advanced nursing program each semester

2) Maintain a GPA of 3.0 (B grade)

3) Participate in curriculum acculturation/socialization activities as planned by the New Jersey Nursing Education Collaborative and with your assigned faculty member

4) Participate in evaluation activities

Begin Your Studies:

The second cohort of New Jersey Nursing Scholars will study from fall 2010 to spring 2012.
