<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>General Psychology II</th>
<th>Term/ Semester/Year:</th>
<th>Fall 2009</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Course Catalog Number</td>
<td>1102.51</td>
<td>Instructor:</td>
<td>Adeena Gabriel</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Course Description:
The overall goal of this course is to expand the students’ knowledge of the field of psychology and to understand history, growth, and the role of psychology in everyday life. This course represents Part II of Introduction to Psychology. Over the course of the semester, basic principles and major theories will be covered in areas of psychology such as sensation, perception, memory, thought and language, motivation, emotion, and stress. In the class, diligent study will be important, but life experience and considered opinions will be called upon as well.

Prerequisites (If any):

Goals and Objectives:
The overall goal of this course is to expand the students’ knowledge of the field of psychology and to understand history, growth, and the role of psychology in everyday life. This course represents Part II of Introduction to Psychology. Over the course of the semester, basic principles and major theories will be covered in areas of psychology such as sensation, perception, memory, thought and language, motivation, emotion, and stress. In the class, diligent study will be important, but life experience and considered opinions will be called upon as well.

Course Topics:
Sensation; Perception; Consciousness, Sleep and Dreams; Types of Memory; Remembering and Forgetting; Thought and Language; Motivation; Emotion; Health, Stress, and Coping; Social Psychology

Text: