Andrew Rosman has been named the next dean of Fairleigh Dickinson University’s Silberman College of Business, effective July 1, 2014. Rosman, currently the dean of the College of Management at LIU Post, has distinguished himself as a professor, administrator and leader with a record of accomplishment in building relationships, forging strong teams and inspiring change.

“I am confident that Dr. Rosman is the right person to lead Silberman College to the next level of excellence and distinction,” said Christopher Capuano, University provost and senior vice president for academic affairs (Metro/Flor). “Passionate, hardworking and resolute, Dr. Rosman has exceptional experiences in both public and private higher education.”

This is an interdisciplinary program that emphasizes methodological, conceptual, and strategic aspects of supply chains and operations. It will be the first ever degree program of its kind in New Jersey (other institutions at the present time offer only concentrations in this field). The program will be offered on the Florham campus, and students will be able to complete it in sixteen months even when employed full-time.

The program curriculum was formulated with a view to imbue its graduates with the critical skills and capabilities for managing the supply chains that are often globally distributed for a number of industry sectors. The program development was also accompanied by the creation of a Program Advisory Board comprised of senior level executives from many of the leading employers within our region, representing the first time we have adopted such an approach as well as the appointment of a Program Coordinator.

http://view.fdu.edu/default.aspx?id=7748
Faculty Spotlight

Scott Behson, PhD, is a Professor of Management at Fairleigh Dickinson University, a busy involved dad, and an overall grateful guy. He runs the www.FathersWorkandFamily.com blog dedicated to helping fathers better balance work and family and encouraging more supportive workplaces, and writes on work and family issues for the Good Men Project online men’s magazine. He lives in Nyack, NY with his lovely wife, Amy, and awesome son, Nick. Contact him @ScottBehson on twitter or Behson@fdu.edu.

Alumni Corner:

Sean Stein Smith

Mr. Smith a 3-time alum of the Silberman College of Business (Metropolitan Campus). Sean earned his B.S. and M.S. in accounting, as well as an M.B.A. with a specialization in International Business Management. Since graduating from FDU, Sean has published two books – “A Fresh Pair of Eyes – Finance for the Young Investor,” and “A Fresh Pair of Eyes – Personal Financial Planning.” In addition, Sean maintains a blog, also titled “A Fresh Pair of Eyes,” that is updated daily, and has spoken at an FDU alumni event – Reach Your Next Goal.

Sean is a licensed CPA in the state of New Jersey, is a licensed CMA, and is currently enrolled in a Doctorate of Business Administration (DBA) program, with a specialization in Strategy & Innovation.

Sean Stein Smith, MBA, CPA, CMA

A Fresh Pair of Eyes

http://ssteinsmith.com/

http://ssteinsmith.com/2013/10/05/the-logo-has-arrived/
MY EXPERIENCE AS AN SCB GA
By Ashley Vieira, GA in Center for Business Undergraduate Advising Madison Campus

The opportunity of becoming a graduate assistant for Fairleigh Dickinson University will greatly help me adjust to the business world after graduation. In December 2013 I will be graduating with my Masters of Science in Accounting and entering the work force right after graduation. Some benefits of being a graduate assistant include; being able to experience the importance of multitasking and meeting deadlines, communication skills and a sense of responsibility. All of these benefits are very important for the business world so it is very important to master these skills before entering the work force in order to excel. The graduate assistant position has helped me practice these skills and understand the importance of having tasks done by the appropriate deadline. Not only is correctly accomplishing a project very important but also communicating your findings is even more important. I was able to learn which strategies work best to master these skills. The graduate assistant experience was a great learning experience and a very valuable opportunity that I am happy I was able to take advantage of.

After graduating in December of 2013 I will be starting full time for PricewaterhouseCoopers LLC, in the assurance sector particularly in auditing. In addition to working for a big four accounting corporation I will be focusing on completing my Certified Public Accountancy (CPA) Certification.

Dining Etiquette Workshop
By Linh Bien

The PDP Networking dinner “From Backpack to Briefcase” was held at Donn Pomo­doro on Nov. 20. This dinner was a chance for students to network with professionals, recruiters and alumni. Moreover, students could practice the Dinning etiquette in anticipation of meals that are part of an interview. Employers may want to see you in a more social situation to see how you conduct yourself. Professors and recruiters at the dinner shared their stories about dinning etiquette and careers. Students prepared for the dinner by attending the workshop on Nov. 15.

Dinning etiquette tips include:
- Be on time
- Dress professionally
- Engage in conversation with neighbors
- Order food that is easy to eat
- Do not order alcohol
- Make eye contact
- Don’t speak with your mouth full
- Say “please” and “thank you”
- Send a thank you note to your host

Visit: for Dining Etiquette 101
http://dailyinfographic.com/dinning-etiquette-infographic
Dr. Jones, Department Chair, Management taught a Meyers-Briggs workshop in which students were able to identify their personality type and cognitive style. It’s a great tool to learn how to work well in a team environment.

Look for more workshops in the fall!

Don’t Forget to File a Declaration of Candidacy!

If you are nearing the completion of your degree requirements, you must file a “Declaration of Candidacy” form. This form MUST be submitted prior to your intended graduation date.

The graduation dates available to students are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Graduation Date</th>
<th>Declaration of Candidacy due:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>September 2014</td>
<td>March 1, 2014</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 2015</td>
<td>June 1, 2014</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 2015</td>
<td>November 1, 2014</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

After filing the “Declaration of Candidacy” form, the Records Office does a final check on the graduation requirements of your degree program. Feel free to call your academic advisor to go over your program statement if you have questions on your graduation date.

Join SCB on Linked-In and Facebook for great professional networking opportunities!

A great time was had by all at the New SCB Graduate Student Welcome BBQ. Guests included Sr. VP Woolley, Dr. Almeida, Dr. Yoon, Dr. West, Dr. Swartz and distinguished alumni.
Congratulations Rothman Center!
Ranked as a top program (7th-undergraduate; 19th-graduate) by Princeton Review and Entrepreneur Magazine

Rothman Institute Upcoming Events
Part of the Silberman College of Business since 1989, the mission of the Rothman Institute is to teach and support entrepreneurship and innovation in the academic, business and nonprofit communities.
Learn from local business professionals by attending the upcoming events:

May 20: Tech Meetup with Flurry CEO
May 20: Women Leading the Way
July 14-18: Discover Business Teen Camp
2013-2014 FDU Innovation Challenge Info For detailed information visit: http://view.fdu.edu/default.aspx?id=1218 or call: 973.443.8842

Congratulations 2014 SCB GRADUATES!