GET READY for the Metropolitan Campus, you can expect a warm and friendly learning environment — but students and faculty here are clearly driven by a focused “let’s get down to business” attitude. Metro students are always on the move: they’re running to class, leading campus meetings, heading to part-time jobs and linking up with friends in New York City.
METRO FAST FACTS

- 2,777 undergraduates and 2,504 graduates
- Less than 10 miles from New York City
- 60% of all freshmen students live on campus
- 19 Division I sports
- Over 70 clubs and organizations

We owe our sense of purpose to these key factors:

We’re the University’s largest campus, with the greatest number of professional programs and a balance of both undergraduate and graduate students. We attract an amazing range of students interested in a college experience filled with diverse perspectives and the chance to study with students whose backgrounds are different than their own. We’re less than 10 miles from New York City, where students go to dream, have fun, embark on new adventures and pursue their goals.
Multidisciplinary is a word you’ll hear often to describe the Metropolitan Campus. Faculty members from different academic disciplines are encouraged to share their best thinking on a subject. This is a campus where professors and students work together to explore ideas and pursue new insights. This is where classroom learning meets big-city experiences head on. You’ll have access to all the academic opportunities that our Metropolitan Campus has to offer — plus the nearby resources of New York City. See the real paintings you study in art class. Watch the stock market climb on Wall Street. Intern at a top New York firm. It’s all there for the taking, just minutes from campus.

Here are some of Metro’s educational opportunities that can give you an added advantage when it comes to job hunting or graduate school:

Multidisciplinary is a word you’ll hear often to describe the Metropolitan Campus. Faculty members from different academic disciplines are encouraged to share their best thinking on a subject. This is a campus where professors and students work together to explore ideas and pursue new insights. This is where classroom learning meets big-city experiences head on. Watch the stock market climb on Wall Street. Intern at a top New York firm. It’s all there for the taking, just minutes from campus.
There’s a vitality at the Metropolitan Campus that you can feel from the start. It’s created by the interaction of the students who live and study here. They come from as close by as the neighborhood around the corner — and as far away as the most remote corner of the globe. Together, they create an educational experience that is open-minded, respectful of differing ideas and eager to share.

An education that opens doors

Hands-on learning drives the academic experience at the Metropolitan Campus. It can mean presenting a paper before a professional society; doing a study of food eating preferences for a class on animal behavior; screening your film at the New York City finale of a national film competition; or meeting with investigators to talk about their work on an unsolved crime.

Research and independent study opportunities let you explore your interests in virtually any area of study with the guidance of faculty mentors. Recent student research spanned such diverse topics as The Constitutionality and Ramifications of Gun Control and Microorganisms and Biofuels.

The University Honors Program, open to accomplished freshmen and undergraduates, features honors courses and a senior thesis completed in collaboration with a faculty mentor. The Honors House enables honors students from throughout the United States and 20 countries to live and work together.

The Global Scholars Program offers students a new way of looking at themselves and their studies through four years of academic, residential and co-curricular activities with a global theme. Students participate in domestic and international experiential learning, including involvement in specialized United Nations programs and activities and a semester abroad.

“For any project I worked on, FDU offered me a blank page — the opportunity to do whatever I wanted. The attitude here is: you pick a project and, if it is reasonable, we will fund it. FDU fosters innovation.”

Sai Sankar

Living on Campus?
More than half of all full-time freshmen live on campus, and most call The Lindens their home. It's a cluster of eight fully-renovated buildings located beside the Student Union. About 60 students live in each building, featuring air-conditioned, suite-style living. Each furnished suite houses six students and includes a common living area.

First-year honors students can opt to live in the Global Scholars House or Honors House, and other special-interest housing is available depending on your residence hall.

Upperclassmen are assigned to either University Court — a nine-building complex with apartment-style living — or Northpointe, the campus’ newest residence hall, which houses 300 students.

Especially for Commuters
If you’re going to commute from home, plan to be involved! The Commuter Council is a great way to get started and network with fellow commuters. Our Commuter Lounge lets you relax and link up with friends between classes. Most organizations on the Metropolitan Campus schedule their meetings and events so commuters can participate.

Where to Go When You’re Hungry
The Dining Hall in the Student Union is the major dining hall on campus, featuring a full range of entrees and desserts. Menus are developed with student input and feature traditional, vegetarian and international foods.

Other eateries on campus include:

Jeepers — for a more casual atmosphere, serving pizza, salads and sandwiches;
Dickinson Café — the perfect stop for a cup of coffee or sandwich on your way to class; and
The Cantina — for conquering late-night munchie attacks.
Campus Organizations:
From Professional to Social

The student clubs and organizations on the Metropolitan Campus will get you ready for your career — and for good times. They include a broad mix of academic and professional honor societies, a wealth of religious and multicultural organizations, and numerous social, service and athletic opportunities. Can’t find what you want? Convince a few friends to sign on with you and we’ll work with you to start your own student club.

There’s no doubt about it — our Division I Knights are a force to be reckoned with in sports. As members of the Northeast Conference (NEC), many of our teams are nationally recognized. We’re the only university in the NEC to hold two NCAA championships and we’ve won a record seven NEC Commissioner’s Cups.

We play smart: Metro’s women’s bowling and women’s golf teams were honored this year by the NCAA for exceptional academic performance. In Spring 2011, 65 Knights were named to the NEC Honor Roll with an average GPA of 3.2. Twenty-three of those students were also named to the Commissioner’s Honor Roll for GPAs of 3.75 or higher.

We play like pros: Nearly 50 Knight baseball players have gone on to the pros. Our men’s and women’s track teams have been nationally ranked 10 times and produced multiple Olympians. Our women’s basketball team has sent players to the pros and produced an Olympian.
Power of Division I

Cheer the FDU Knights on to victory in these 19 varsity sports:

NCAA Men’s Division I
Baseball
Basketball
Cross Country
Golf
Soccer
Tennis
Track & Field (Indoor)
Track & Field (Outdoor)

NCAA Women’s Division I
Basketball
Bowling
Cross Country
Fencing
Golf
Soccer
Softball
Tennis
Track & Field (Indoor)
Track & Field (Outdoor)
Volleyball

Our women’s golf team is a powerhouse, making it to the NCAA tournament in four consecutive years.

Get in the Game!

Want to be part of a team? You can join an intramural team and have fun competing in basketball, flag football, soccer or volleyball — just to name a few.

If you’re looking for something more competitive, try one of our club sports in cricket, bowling or roller hockey.

Metro Fitness Center & Commuter Lounge
You’ll stay fit and healthy using top-of-the-line equipment in our Fitness Center, including free weights, cardiovascular machines and a selectorized weight room. Take a dance class or aerobics or join in a pick-up game of basketball or volleyball.

If you’re planning to commute to campus, relax after a work out or between classes in our Commuter Lounge. You can grab a snack, surf the Web or catch up on your favorite TV show.

Campus Location and Neighborhoods

The Metropolitan Campus is less than 10 miles from New York City in Bergen County, NJ. Running through the center of campus is the Hackensack River (an estuary), and many of our buildings offer great views of the rise and fall of the tides.

The towns of Teaneck and Hackensack are located on opposite sides of the Hackensack River. Both have rich and interesting histories, tracing their roots to America’s early Dutch settlers. George Washington was headquartered in Hackensack in 1772 and Teaneck played a pioneering role in school integration in the 1960s. Teaneck and Hackensack both offer numerous shops, markets, ethnic groceries, cafés and restaurants within easy walking distance of campus.

Things to Do in Our Neighborhood

Sure, New York City’s close by. But sometimes it’s nice to relax in our own backyard!

Teaneck
- Catch a flick at Cedar Lane Cinemas 4 — at bargain prices!
- Shop organic at the local Teaneck Farmers Market
- Check out an outdoor concert by the Teaneck Community Band
- Order a corned beef sandwich at a kosher deli on Cedar Lane — then top it off with a slice of strawberry cheesecake from the Cedar Lane Grill
- Browse the used books and play chess at Brier Rose Books

Hackensack
- Shop the 70-plus upscale stores at Riverside Square Mall
- Tour the New Jersey Naval Museum and its World War II submarine
- Plan a spring picnic at Hackensack River County Park
- Visit the 300-year-old Church on the Green
- Sharpen your skates and head to New Jersey’s largest skating rink, The Ice House

Getting to New York City

There is regular bus service to New York City’s Port Authority; the bus stop is located less than a block from campus. A free shuttle bus is offered from the campus on most weekends.

Traveling to Our Campus by Car

The Metropolitan Campus is located directly off Route 4 and is six miles from the George Washington Bridge. It can be reached from such major routes as the Garden State Parkway, the New Jersey Turnpike, and Routes 17 and 80.

For detailed driving directions to the Metropolitan Campus, visit fdu.edu/visit and click the “Directions” link located at the left on the bottom of the page.

Traveling to Our Campus by Air

International and out-of-state students can reach the Metropolitan Campus from three major airports. Closest is New Jersey’s Newark Liberty International Airport, which is about a 40-minute drive to campus. New York City’s major airports — Kennedy International and LaGuardia International — are approximately 1 to 1.5 hours from our campus. In advance of their flight, students should contact the Office of Admissions for details on ground transportation options to campus from these airports.

FDU Snapshot

Character
New Jersey’s largest private university; co-educational and independent.

U.S. Locations
Two distinctive living/learning environments in northern New Jersey — College at Florham (Madison, NJ) and Metropolitan Campus (Teaneck, NJ), each with its own student government, athletic programs and administration. Both campuses are located in attractive suburban communities with easy access to New York City.

International Locations
FDU owns and operates two international campuses: Wroxton College in Oxfordshire, England (70 miles northwest of London), and FDU-Vancouver in British Columbia, Canada.

Founding Date
Established in 1942 by metropolitan New York/New Jersey business leaders to prepare students to be “of and for the world,” emphasizing strong career preparation and a global perspective.

Enrollment
Approximately 12,200 students, including 9,062 undergraduate and 3,138 graduate students. Our multiple campus structure gives students all the resources of a major university and the personalized attention and benefits of a mid-sized campus. Students come from 33 states and 82 countries around the world.

Undergraduate Student/Faculty Ratio
12:1; average class size of 18–20 students.

Academic Calendar
Fall, Spring and Summer semesters. (FDU-Vancouver follows a year-round academic calendar.)

Faculty
322 full-time faculty; more than 75 percent hold doctoral degrees or the highest degree in their field.

Majors
More than 100 academic programs in the disciplines of business, education, engineering, hotel and restaurant management, liberal arts (including communication, criminal justice, film and animation, psychology and theater), nursing and allied health, and the sciences.

Special Programs
Honors programs, independent research, study abroad and a nationally acclaimed Core Curriculum that is used as a model at other colleges and universities.

Scholarships & Financial Aid Opportunities
94 percent of all entering freshmen receive some form of financial aid. Generous scholarships range from $3,000 to $25,000 annually. A limited number of full academic scholarships also are available. The average financial aid award is $20,000.

(See back side of this panel for information on how to visit and apply to FDU.)
